

INSURANCE POLICY

uAfrica has compiled a document for each courier, containing need-to-know information in relation to their policies for insurance more specifically, the processes to be followed for insuring your goods and/or processes to be followed should you need to claim under any policy of insurance. This document is merely provided by uAfrica as a means to provide clarity on the processes relating to the Courier's policies of insurance. However, whilst uAfrica endeavours to ensure that the information contained therein is accurate, correct and/or up to date, uAfrica does not warrant, hold out or in any way represent this to be the case.

THE COURIER GUY

A. Specifications

- Insurance must be indicated on a per waybill basis.

B. Cost relating to insurance

- If the insured value is R1000.00 and below, then The Courier Guy will automatically assume liability at no extra cost. Thus, all parcels shipped with The Courier Guy via uAfrica will automatically be insured up to the value of R1000.00.
- Value insured above R1000.00 but below R2500.00, then a fixed fee of R 50.00 will be charged.
- Value insured above R2501 then 2% of the value insured will be charged.
- uAfrica charges 2% of the cost of the insurance as an administration fee.
- The value insured is limited to a maximum of R100,000.00. This means that if the value insured is more than R100,000.00, insurance on that item will not be allowed. It will require the merchant to contact uAfrica directly in order to assist the merchant in arranging for special insurance with the courier. The courier has the right to deny the request or ask a higher fee than specified above.
- If a parcel's volume is bigger than 1m x 1m x 1m and/or it weighs more than 50kg, The Courier Guy will not accept any liability.
- Excess charged, for which the merchant is liable, when processing a claim:
 - High-jack: minimum of at least 15% of declared value.
 - Non-high jacking or no theft a minimum of 10% of the declared value.
 - The excess amounts above will automatically be deducted prior to settlement.

C. Conditions to apply to

- Parcels must be packaged to withstand the normal rigours of transportation. It is the responsibility of the merchant to ensure that parcels are packed according to the specifications of the courier. If the courier finds the parcel to be insufficiently packaged and conclude that damaged was caused due to this reason, they have the right to deny the insurance claim.
- Electronics/gadgets must be in original packaging, sealed and brand new.
- Client must be able to prove with reasonable satisfaction of the carrier that article has been lost or damaged and that such damaged was caused by the carrier.
- The maximum liability of the Carrier to the Client shall, to the maximum extent permitted in law, be the lesser of the insured value (as provided by the Client on the waybill), and R100,000.00

D. Types of products that cannot be insured or for which The Courier Guy will not accept any liability

A. Specifications

- Insurance must be indicated on a per waybill basis.

B. Cost relating to insurance

- If the insured value is R1000.00 and below, then MDS Collivery will automatically assume liability at no extra cost. Thus, all parcels (subject to point C and D below) shipped with MDS Collivery via uAfrica will automatically be insured up to the value of R1000.00.
- If the value insured is above R 1000.01 and smaller than R 10 000.00, then a fixed R 100.00 per waybill will be charged.
- The value insured is limited to a maximum of R 10 000.00. This means that if the value insured is more than R10,000.00, insurance on that item will not be allowed via MDS Collivery.
- The value insured is only for the direct cost of the replacement of the goods and does not include any indirect or consequential damages.

C. Conditions to apply to

- Parcels must be packaged to withstand the normal rigours of transportation. It is the responsibility of the merchant to ensure that parcels are packed according to the specifications of the courier. If the courier finds the parcel to be insufficiently packaged and conclude that damaged was caused due to this reason, they have the right to deny the insurance claim.
- The system generated waybill must be printed and fixed to the parcel.
- A signed proof of delivery is required.
- The physical delivery address is required; it will not suffice if the PO Box address was provided.
- Electronics/gadgets must be in original packaging, sealed and brand new.
- Client must be able to prove with reasonable satisfaction of the carrier that article has been lost or damaged and that such damaged was caused by the carrier.
- Clients must keep the original packaging and be able to provide proof of the packaging used to protect the shipment.
